

CLINICAL RESEARCH UNIT

The Clinical Research Unit (CRU) is a 5,400 sq. ft., state-of-the-art inpatient and outpatient research facility. The CRU is located in the IWK Health Centre in Halifax, Nova Scotia, and managed by the Canadian Center for Vaccinology (CCfV).

Facility features

- 10 single isolation rooms, each with:
 - monitoring and diagnostic equipment
 - HEPA-filtered exhaust air
 - negative pressure to contain pathogens
 - TV, wireless Internet, telephone, mini fridge
- central monitoring at nurses' station
- procedure/examination room
- meeting room
- controlled access to the unit
- secure lockers
- outside deck for ambulatory patients

Services available

- preparation of ethics/regulatory submissions
- statistical and data management support
- nursing support for data collection
- protocol-specific interventions
- lab and imaging services
- storage and handling of study medications
- study participant recruitment

For more information, contact:

Cathy Brown, Clinical Operations Coordinator

Tel: 902-470-7015

E-mail: Catherine.Brown@iwk.nshealth.ca

The Canadian Center for Vaccinology is a collaboration of

